

INTRODUCING

FINEX 2026

EXPLORATION

MEETS THE CITY

The Geological Society

Thursday 15th October

FINEX '26 is the ninth in a series of biennial conferences bringing together financiers, innovators and explorers from major and junior companies.

Talks will cover developments in capital and commodity markets, mineral deposit science and innovation in exploration, from the standpoints of experts and professionals from banks, finance houses, stockbrokers, exploration and mining companies and contractors. FINEX is not an investment promotion forum but aims to provide a wider perspective on our industry.

FINEX is a non-profit event supported by sponsors and organised by members of MinSouth, the Applied Earth Science Division of IoM3, and the Mineral Deposits Study Group of the Geological Society.

COMPANIES CONFIRMED TO SPEAK INCLUDE:

- London Stock Exchange
- Strand Hanson
- S&P Global
- Metals Focus
- Cardew Group
- Amaroq
- Mineomics
- AMC Consultants
- AHK International

THE 1-DAY CONFERENCE WILL BRING TOGETHER INDIVIDUALS FROM ACROSS THE FULL VALUE CHAIN OF MINING, AND WILL FOCUS ON TOPICS INCLUDING:

- Mining in the Trump Era
- Maximising your "Bang for Buck"
- The importance of technical and commercial communications

REGISTRATION

Registration for FINEX '26 is through LondonFinex.com or the MinSouth website www.minsouth.org.uk

Registration, including lunch, refreshments and evening drinks is:

- £149 for delegates
- £129 for AusIMM members
- £85 virtual delegates
- £39 for students (limited number)

NETWORKING AND SPONSORSHIP

FINEX '26 sponsored networking events include tea and coffee breaks, lunches and evening receptions.

Sponsorship opportunities are available to interested companies. For details see LondonFinex.com or contact julian.aldridge@snowdenoptiro.com

VENUE

Burlington House, home of the Geological Society, is situated on Piccadilly, London, close to Green Park and Piccadilly Circus tube stations.

